REFLECTION AND PRESAGE.

REFLECTION.

You have a tongue of honey and gall; You can trip up truth with the dearest fall. Your wit is as bright as your heart is true— And how does that sentence read to you?

You have seen my soul in the clearest light. And would not read its riddle aright. The heart you think of, the mind you see, Are but your trappings transferred to me.

PRESAGE.

You bird of ocean, o'er the tossing wave You fit prey seeking—I am not your prey; Though I can never forget the gift you gave, I still all day dwell on the last day. Pause in your flight. Look on this wretch of error.

Who fancies fears your presage. Is it well? Your brilliant wings should bring a flash of terror To one whose vows and hopes you never can tell!

Wing on your flight, work out your destined story Work to the prize that waits you at the end, And when your wings shall burn with heaven's glory Think not of me—you cannot make or mend. Watching your flight, I still shall wait in wonder.

To see you dashless in the lightning's blaze, And while I hear and feel the thunder, May know you restful after restless days. —W. H. Pollock in Longman's Magazine.

He Wanted a Sudden Death.

At a brilliant dinner party at the house of the secretary of state in 1879, the talk turned upon the sensation of death. "I do not know," said Mr. Fish, in the hubb that involuntarily followed the introduction of such a serious subject, "why we should pray against sudden death; it seems to me a very desirable way of shuffling off this mortal coil. I think the compilers of our book of Common Prayer must have intended violent death in their petition—at least that is the way I read it—and every Sunday at church, when that part of the litany is read, I make that distinction in my mind.

"It seems to me," he continued, looking abstractedly before him, with his thoughts evidently far away from the gay scene by which he was surrounded, "to die suddenly, without the painful struggles of disease, is what I would rather pray for." When one day one of the guests of that occasion picked up a morning paper and read in large type, "Suddenly, at his home at Garrison-on-the-Hudson, Hamilton Fish," the long forgotten conversation came vividly to mind.—New York Tribune.

Cold Blooded Advice.

It behooves our wealthy girls to be wary of the young doctors who are yearly turned loose in large numbers to prey, as it will be seen, upon society.

One of these recent graduates asked an old and prominent practitioner for advice as to the best course to pursue to succeed in his profession. The reply came quickly and decisively: "Connect yourself with some prominent church where you may mingle in good society. Make the acquaintance of wealthy girls and marry one of them; then the road is easy. If, on the contrary, you mingle with a poor class of persons, you may fall in love with and marry a poor girl. Then you have a long struggle before you."

Which sounds awfully cold blooded, though it may be sound sense.—New York Times.

How Did the Turtle Find His Way?

The rocks at the west coast of the island of St. Helena abound with sea turtles, some of them as heavy as a man, and an English steamer once took aboard several dozen of these sea turtles, intending to deliver them at a provision dealer in Liverpool. But when they reached English waters on the turtles was taken sick and was hung overboard, after having been branded with the name of the ship. Next year the same steamer came across the same tortoise on the coast of St. Helena, more than 4,000 miles from the point where the homesick creature had been hung back overboard.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Nothing Like Hiding Sure.

The next train for Chestnut Hill leaves at 5:17—17 minutes after 5. Train now ready on track No. 5. Track No. 5 for 5:17 train to Chestnut Hill! Those were the words of the guard, and they rang through the waiting room in Boston with penetrating distinctness. As soon as he had uttered them a fair young woman rushed up to him and said: "Is the train for Chestnut Hill ready yet? And what time does it leave?"—Exchange.

The Vote Was a Failure.

The worthy Sunday school superintendent was illustrating the text, "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

Superintendent—If I want to raise a crop of turnips, what sort of seed must I sow?

Children—Turnip seed.

Superintendent—If I want to raise a crop of tomatoes, what kind of seed must I sow?

Children—Tomato seed.

Superintendent—Very good. Now, if you want to raise a crop of good manhood, what kind of seed must you sow?

And an observer who kept tally reported that the school on test vote was a tie between turnip seed and tomato seed.—Buffalo Times.

A Storm Indicator.

In Winna, Logan county, Kan., there is a well bored to a depth of 130 feet, and containing eight feet of water. Twenty hours before a storm a current of air issues from it and passes through a whistle that has been fixed to the mouth, which sounds a note shrill enough to be heard for nearly half a mile round.—Exchange.

Sister's Queer Actions.

Little Johnny—I guess sister doesn't care much for that young man that's after her now.

Mother—I should hope not.

Little Johnny—Of course she doesn't, 'cause she burns every one of his letters just as soon as she reads 'em.—Good News.

Neatest Fall and Winter

MRS. MACKAY EXPLAINS.

Mrs. Mackay requests the London correspondent of the New York World to say that certain statements regarding the Princess Colonna's suit are incorrect. She never visited the Colonnas at Naples palace, but on the contrary they spent much of their married life in her house in Paris. She was not in any way the cause of differences between them, the Princess herself initiating the proceedings for a separation of her own free will, life with her husband having become unbearable. The dispute between Mrs. Mackay and the Prince was on account of his extravagance and debts.

It is stated that the proceedings for separation have reached such a stage that the decree of divorce must shortly be rendered. By the original marriage agreement any property the Princess may acquire will not be subject to her husband's demands or debts. At the present time the Princess has no property of her own.

AN ADDRESS TO WOOLGROWERS.

An address has been issued by the President of the National Woolgrowers' Association to the woolgrowers of the United States. He earnestly requests all State and local Woolgrowers' Associations to meet as soon as practicable and adopt resolutions or addresses against any reduction in wool duties. He thinks free wool will substantially destroy the American wool industry; yet urges all woolgrowers not to reduce their flocks, but increase them as fast as practicable, even if need be for a time at some loss, for if free wool shall come it cannot endure.

There are woolgrowers in Nevada who contend that placing wool on the free list will enhance its market value, but they are largely in a minority. If, as is claimed, foreign wool can be imported at less cost than it can possibly be produced in the United States, it is difficult to understand how the price of the home product is going to be advanced by putting wool on the free list. However, Senator Sherman of Ohio, who is credited with being a political economist as well as a flatterer, declared on the floor of the United States Senate that a tariff on articles cheapens them, and if this theory is correct, it may increase the price of wool to put it on the free list.

SOUND SILVER SENSE.

As an attempt is being made to again delude the people with the idea that the old parties are favorable to the monetization of silver, a Montana paper has this to say on the subject: "If the people of Montana intend to defend the silver industry they must go into the ranks of the People's Party. It is the only party that is true to silver. During the last campaign to elect a Democratic and Republican pair, the Democratic declared that their respective parties were in favor of free coinage. Those papers will try to fool the people again during the next campaign. The News warns the people last fall—and thousands now wish they had listened. The News warns the people again."

Within four years both the old parties have had opportunity to pass a free coinage bill if so disposed. Three years ago both Houses of Congress and the Administration were Republican and a free coinage bill was defeated. Now the parties have changed positions relatively. The Democrats have a majority in each of the two Houses and have also control of the Executive Department of the Government. At the special session less than fifty per cent. of the Democratic members of the House voted for free coinage and only ten per cent. of the Republicans did so. It is folly with these facts before us to expect any relief from the old parties and silly to contend that either is in favor of monetizing silver.

Judge Bellinger of the United States District Court of Oregon has the courage and manliness to admit that he made a wrong ruling. In open court at Portland he announced that he had erred in a ruling made in the Dunbar smuggling trial; that conviction could not be had on the evidence of an accomplice without corroborative testimony, and added: "I find testimony of an accomplice is sufficient evidence for a jury to convict if they believe the testimony to be true."

Another resolution was introduced in the Senate yesterday by Hoar calling upon the President for further information as to the action of the Administration in Hawaiian affairs. Hoar spoke in favor of the resolution and made some points against Cleveland, which will doubtless call for explanations and retorts from the other side of the chamber.

Scott Harrison, a brother of ex-President Harrison, has been appointed Surveyor of Customs at Kansas City. He is a Democrat and a great admirer of Cleveland.

CONGRESSIONAL WORK.

Senator Hoar Scores President Cleveland.

"HE" WAS A FEMALE.

Cleveland Asked to Explain the Benefits of the Repeal Law.

CONGRESSIONAL NOTES.

Senator Hoar Scores the Executive.
WASHINGTON, December 11.—When the morning hour arrived in the House Kilgore of Texas was about to call up the bill for the admission of Utah, when Dingley, in behalf of the Republican side, made a statement declaring that the bill was of too much importance to be considered during the morning hour, but no objection would be made from his side if ample opportunity was allowed for debate and amendment.

General Heeler asked unanimous consent that to-morrow and Wednesday after the morning hour be set aside for its consideration, and without objection this order was made.

It is understood that a delegation of ex-representatives from Utah was instrumental in inducing the Republican leaders to recede from opposition to the bill.

SENATE.
Hoar introduced a resolution calling upon the President for further information as to his action in the Hawaiian affair.

The resolution by imputation attacks the President's appointment of a commissioner without the consent and advice of the Senate. Hoar in the course of his remarks on the resolution said if it were true that the President, the Senate being in session, authorized an officer to exercise paramount diplomatic authority in another country with which the United States was at peace, and authorized him to employ at his discretion the naval force of the United States, and gave him a title which was enumerated as one of the diplomatic officers in the act of Congress, he was standing upon very slippery ground, and had better step onto terra firma rapidly and at once.

"The ostrich puts its head in the sand," said Hoar, "and thinks it will not be seen; the rhinoceros hides in his mud puddle and breathes through his nose, and thinks he will not be seen; but neither of these are fit and suitable precedents for the President of the United States. The people will know the truth of the matter."

IT WAS A WOMAN.

The Miser Who Left $91,000, Found to be a Female.

INDIANAPOLIS, December 11.—Litigation embodying a novel legal point will come up as a result of the death of Joseph Deitch in whose house was found a chest containing $94,000 in gold and banknotes this week. Deitch was a Hebrew and married a gentile and his will probated Thursday left two-thirds of his wealth to his widow, made a number of charity bequests and left only $11,000 to his relatives, he being without children.

Mrs. Deitch herself died Thursday night, and thus the greatest portion of Deitch's estate goes to her family.

Deitch's relations, however, are preparing to contest the will on the grounds that Joseph Deitch was a woman and never had any right to marry. They assert that until fifteen years of age he wore dresses and was called Josephine, but he decided to be a boy and changed his attire.

When the statement was made it proved a sensation. It was recalled, however, that the aged Hebrew never had any beard on his face, that his features were deflated, his complexion fair as a woman's and his voice decidedly feminine. He was always an eccentric person and never mingled with his Jewish relations or to any extent with the outside world beyond the necessities of his business.

Wanted to Hear from Cleveland.

DENVER, December 11.—The editor of the Times this morning sent the following telegram to President Cleveland: "For the information of the people of Colorado, will you kindly make a public statement as to the effect in the East of the repeal of the so-called Sherman act? Many thousands who have been thrown out of employment in this State by its repeal are ready to hear that it has resulted in the restoration of prosperity elsewhere."

A Robber Felled.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., December 11.—An attempt to rob the express car on an Erie train was made late last night at a crossing near this city. At the moment the train stopped the glass door of the express car was smashed and a robber entered. Messenger Weekly was unarmed, but in the struggle worsted the robber and flung him from the car just as the train moved on. Nearly $6,000 was in plain sight, having been gotten ready for transfer when the train reached Bloomington.

Telegraphic Notes.

Bar silver, 69 3/4.

The cannon-ball train of the Texas Pacific was held up and the passengers robbed at Duval by six men.

Three burglars entered the store of S. N. Chadwick, Chicago, and attacked him. He killed one and wounded another.

Arthur Chadwick, an elevator boy in the telephone building, San Francisco, fell down the elevator shaft from the fifty story and was killed.

The steamer F. & P. M. of the Flint and Pere Marquette line went ashore in a terrible gale on Lake Michigan. The passengers were all rescued.

John McFarlin, superintendent of street railways of Washington, was fatally assaulted in his dooryard Sunday night. Two rough characters seen in his company have been arrested.

Engineer George B. Jefferis, who has been on trial for the mysterious murder of Olga Ayers, the Brighton station agent, was acquitted yesterday afternoon. The jury was out twenty-five hours.

The thirteenth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor is in session at Chicago. About 100 delegates are present. W. P. Pomeroy of the Local Labor League expressed hope that the body would make known to the world the pitiable condition of the thousands of unemployed in the city.

John C. Fraser has sued the Sutter & Larkin Street Railway Company for $25,000 damages for injuries received by being struck by a cable car in 1891 while riding on a fire engine going to a fire. Joseph Blakeley, the driver of the fire engine, at the time was also injured and sued for $50,000, while L. A. Henry has sued for $10,000 damages for injuries sustained in the same casualty.

The anarchist who threw the bomb in the French Chamber of Deputies has been arrested. His name is Vaillant. He declared as the motive of his act that he wished to deal a dramatic blow at the constitution of the country. It is believed that he will be speedily tried and executed. The act will probably lead to severe measures being taken against anarchism by the European nations.

UNDER THE DOME.

The Opening of Congress—The Message—Prospective Legislation.
[By C. D. Van Duzer.]

The opening of Congress, according to traditional custom, is always an event of great importance to Washington people. The fact that the new Congress was opened in August robbed yesterday of many of its important features. Nevertheless a large crowd of curious and politically interested were on hand. The gallery of Congress, that portion reserved for the "hoi polloi," resembles in its make up an average police court audience. The private galleries, to which admission is gained only by card, being the coveted places where Washington people desire to witness the many congressional incidents of interest that from time to time transpire.

Looking from the gallery a most animated scene presents itself to view. Three hundred and fifty-six members, and a large number of officers, attaches, pages and congressional "has-beens" to whom the privilege of the floor has been courteously extended are in conversation or in their respective duties, which does not offer an altogether orderly scene. Many of the desks present a handsome appearance, owing to the fact that some Congressmen whose ability, or whose long service has entitled him to it, has before him the choicest of floral offerings. Two desks were yesterday covered with black. Each somber rapping had upon it the golden sheaf of the harvest garnered in. One of the vacant desks belonged to the venerable O'Neill of Pennsylvania, whose long term of service has entitled him to be called the "father of the House," the other was that of Congressman Lilly of Pennsylvania, whose demise has been but lately chronicled.

In the Senate among the many floral pieces was one placed on Senator Stewart's desk. It consisted of roses, being in the form of a monument. On one side hung three white chrysanthemums and from the other three yellow ones. His brother Senators were much amused at this symbolic reference to the bougie standard and many came up to take a sniff at his "bi-metallic" bouquet as they called it.

The chief interest of the day centered in the message concerning which so much had been said and of which so much had been expected. Grover Cleveland had the reputation of saying some forcible things and being a man whose opinion once formed no set of men can alter. His message was a disappointment in so far that it failed to define clearly his views on an important question and it was a surprise in as much as it was a manifestation of mediocre statesmanship. As a review of historical events it was fairly good. As a synopsis of the Cabinet reports it was accurately correct. As a statesman like message, strong in patriotism giving hope to the people awaiting a turn of prosperity, restoring confidence to business circles by its clearly outlined utterances, it was a dismal failure. Both parties are disappointed. The Democrats faintly praise it because it is partly fealty to do so but the Republicans condemn it both for reasons given and because it is signally open to well deserved criticism.

Your correspondent was in the gallery at the time when the portion relating to Hawaiian policy was read. The instant the Clerk came to the word Hawaiian there was perfect silence and many members leaned forward to catch every word. The interest was intense. When after reading some twenty lines the whole matter was disposed of, there was a general rustle, a buzz of conversation, disgust and disappointment on every face. An international muddle of gravest importance, the entire subject of which had been secretly kept from the public, over which the Executive Department has assumed authority bordering on to constitutional limitations, concerning which the American people had a right to be fully informed, disposed of in twenty lines, tended nothing to lessen the criticism which has since developed concerning the whole paper.

The reading of the message took about one and a half hours and scarcely half the members remained when the clerk completed its reading.

The coming two weeks promises little of interest to the people, as it will be twenty days before debate will begin on the tariff measure, and until tariff is disposed of there is little prospect of financial legislation, if there be any then. The prevailing opinion seems to be that this session will witness no other financial legislation than that which took place in the repeal of the Sherman law.

THE WOOL QUESTION.

An Address From the National Wool Growers' Association.

The following has been issued by the President of the National Wool-Growers' Association:

To the Wool-Growers' of the United States: At a mass meeting of the wool-growers of the United States at Chicago, on September 28th and 29th, and at a meeting of the National Wool-Growers' Association, it was resolved that committees should be appointed by the undersigned charged with the duty of presenting to the Congress of the United States an earnest protest against legislation placing wool on the free list, or which will reduce the duties on wool as provided in the tariff act of October 1, 1890. It is now apparent that the House of Representatives at Washington will pass a bill placing wool on the free list. The Committee of Ways and Means was asked to give a hearing on the subject of the wool tariff to committees of wool-growers thereafter to be appointed at the meetings at Chicago, but declined to do so.

It is believed that if the wool-growers of the United States will hold State and county conventions and declare their emphatic condemnation of free wool and of the efforts to reduce the wool duties now in force, and will in other proper modes make known the public judgment in favor of adequate protection for the wool industry, the Senate of the United States may be induced to defeat any measure reducing the existing duties.

I therefore earnestly call upon all existing State and local wool-growers' associations to meet as soon as practicable and adopt resolutions or addresses against any reduction of wool duties. In States where no associations exist the wool-growers are respectfully urged to meet, organize and aid in the movement for protection.

At an early date and as soon as practicable I will call a meeting of wool-growers from all the States and Territories to assemble in Washington, D. C., to present to the Finance Committee of the Senate the protest of wool-growers against free wool and their claim to "full and adequate protection," such as will in the near future give to American wool-growers the privilege of supplying all wools of every kind needed for consumption in the United States.

Meantime I announce, as authorized by the Chicago meetings, the following committee charged with the duty of appearing before the Senate Finance Committee at the same time when the convention shall meet in Washington, to be soon fixed, to-wit:

First—The President of each State and Territorial Wool-Growers' Association, or such other person as the Association may select.

Second—The officers of the National Wool-Growers' Association.

Third—In addition to those also: Theodore Justice of Philadelphia; John McDowell, Washington, Pa.; L. S. Morris, Xenia, O.; F. B. Norton, Burlington, Wis.; Jacob Rosenberg, San Francisco; W. L. Black, Fort McGarvity, Tex., and the editors of all wool-growers' and agricultural journals who favor full and adequate protection for the wool industry.

Free wool will undoubtedly substantially destroy the American wool industry. But all wool-growers are earnestly urged not to reduce their flocks, but keep and increase them as fast as practicable even if need be for a time at some loss, for if free wool shall come it cannot endure and will be followed by such improved and increased protective duties as to insure the future prosperity and success of the wool industry.

Papers friendly to sheep husbandry will please publish this.

Wool-Growers' Associations will please send me copies of resolutions and addresses.

WILLIAM LAWRENCE,
President of the National Wool-Growers' Association, Bellefontaine, Ohio.

STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

Commissioner Yerington Reports Progress on Midwinter Fair Business.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the State Board of Agriculture was held at the Secretary's office yesterday to hear the report of Commissioner J. A. Yerington on the Nevada building at the Midwinter Fair. The meeting was called to order by President Martin and the following members were present: M. D. Foley, J. R. Bradley, W. D. Phillips, P. H. Mulcahy, T. K. Hyman and Secretary Stoddard.

Mr. Yerington exhibited a front elevation and plans and specifications of the proposed Nevada building, and the members of the Board expressed themselves as being well satisfied with the building, which is to be 60x80 feet, two stories high with garden roof for a cafe.

Mr. Yerington stated that he had three or four proposals for erecting the building, only one of which was satisfactory. Mahoney Brothers, San Francisco contractors, agreed to erect the building according to the plans and specifications, build 500 or 600 feet of sewer to connect the building with the main sewer, and give bonds to have the building completed by January 15, 1894, for the sum of $4,900. This, Mr. Yerington was informed, they could not afford to do were it not that they had been awarded the contract to erect the Viennese building, a $50,000 structure, in the vicinity of the Nevada building.

Mr. Yerington also received a proposal to erect the building, without sewerage and subject to several modifications, from George E. Holesworth of Reno for the sum of $3,900. Mr. Holesworth required that $1,000 be paid him now, $1,000 in twenty days and the balance when the building would be completed.

Mr. Yerington stated that the railroad track now used for conveying material to the fair grounds will be removed early next month and that it was of the first importance that the building be completed and ready for exhibit by January 15th.

A motion by Director Phillips that Mr. Yerington proceed and erect a building in accordance with the plans submitted and at a cost of $4,900, and, if possible, arrange with the contractors to give Nevada mechanics the preference in constructing the building, provided they were competent and desired the job.

Mr. Foley objected to the motion on the ground that Nevada builders should have opportunity to compete for the erection of the building and suggested that three or four days time be given to enable Virginia City, Carson and Reno mechanics to visit San Francisco, if they felt so disposed, ascertain the cost of material, etc., and make bids.

Mr. Yerington said he would certainly favor that proposition, but the time was limited and the Midwinter Fair management insists that the buildings must be completed by January 15th.

After considerable discussion, it was discovered that there was not a quorum of the Directors present. Chairman Martin also called attention to the fact that Commissioner Yerington, at a full meeting of the Board, had been empowered to proceed and erect the building and make all necessary arrangements for the Nevada exhibit at the Fair.

It is but fair to state in this connection that the sentiment was unanimous in favor of giving Nevada mechanics opportunity to bid for the erection of the building and that the only reason for not affording them such opportunity was the limited time allowed for constructing the building.

Secretary Stoddard reported that $200 had been received as the net proceeds of the entertainments given in Reno by Richard Foote. The receipts amounted to $380, of which the balance was given Mr. Foote to pay expenses.

BREVITIES.

Ice skates at all prices at Lange & Schmidt's.

Mrs. A. E. Lothrop of Winnemucca and Mrs. Frank Paul of Hamilton, White Pine county, both daughters of Justice Linn, arrived yesterday to spend the holidays with their parents.

J. A. Yerington left last night for San Francisco. He expects to return not later than Thursday, and with Messrs. Stoddard and Mulcahy commence collecting and classifying the exhibits for the Fair.

Dr. E. Robinson, late of Virginia City, has located in Reno. The Doctor is an old practitioner, having located on the Comstock in 1875, and is well known in Humboldt and Lyon, as he had several cases in each of those counties.

Yesterday Commissioner Yerington received a carload of exhibits from the eastern part of the State which will be temporarily housed in the Riverside mills warehouse until the Nevada building at the Midwinter Fair is ready to receive them.

The trial of Parsons for the murder of Hamilton is in progress in Carson City. Quite a number of witnesses have been examined in behalf of the State. The evidence goes to show that it was one of the most unprovoked and cold blooded murders that ever occurred in the State of Nevada.
